What Do You Call 4 Mexicans in Quicksand? Cuatro Cinco

Maria, a Mexican woman, was extremely religious. When she married Pablo, she felt that birth control was going against God's will and the couple had 17 children. But then Pablo got sick and died. Then Maria married Pedro, and again, because of her religious beliefs, they had fifteen kids. Pedro died and soon after Maria passed away as well. At her funeral mass, the priest looked down at the coffin then looked up at the sky and said, "They're finally together." After the service, a family member asked the priest. "Father, when you said, 'they're finally together,' did you mean Maria and her first husband Pablo or Maria and her second husband Pedro?" The priest sighed, "I was talking about her legs."

I woke up this morning, got dressed and went into the kitchen where my wife was already fixing breakfast. I looked to see what she was cooking, and I see one of my socks in the frying pan.

"What are you doing?" I asked her. I'm doing what you asked me to do last night when you came to bed very drunk," she replied. Completely puzzled, I walked away thinking to myself, "I don't remember asking her to cook my sock..."

Government: You owe us money. It's called taxes. Me: How much do I owe?

Government: You have to figure that out. Me: I just pay what I want?

Government: Oh no, we know exactly how much you owe. But you have to guess that number too.

Me: What if I get it wrong? Government: You go to prison.

The IRS suspected a fishing Boat Owner wasn't paying proper wages to his Deckhand and sent an agent to investigate him.

IRS Auditor "I need a list of your employees and how much you pay them".

Boat Owner: "Well, there's Clarence, my deckhand, he's been with me for 3 years.

I pay him $1,000 a week plus free room and board.

Then there's the mentally challenged guy.

He works about 18 hours every day and does about 90% of the work around here. He makes about $10 per week, pays his own room and board, and I buy him a bottle of Bacardi rum and a dozen

Budweiser's every Saturday night so he can cope with life.

He also gets to sleep with my wife occasionally".

IRS Auditor: "That's the guy I want to talk to – the mentally challenged one".

Boat Owner: "That would be me. What would you like to know"?

Remembering Notre Dame

(This Was Voted Funniest Joke Of The year In Japan)

"I remembered once, in Japan, having been to see the Gold Pavilion Temple in Kyoto and being mildly surprised at quite how well it had weathered the passage of time since it was first built in the fourteenth century. I was told it hadn't weathered well at all and had in fact been burnt to the ground twice in this century. "So it isn't the original building?" I had asked my Japanese guide.

"But yes, of course, it is," he insisted, rather surprised at my question.

"But it's burnt down?"

"Yes."

"Twice."

"Many times."

"And rebuilt."

"Of course. It is an important and historic building."

"With completely new materials."

"But of course. It was burnt down."

"So how can it be the same building?"

"It is always the same building."

I had to admit to myself that this was, in fact, a perfectly rational point of view, it merely started from an unexpected premise. The idea of the building, the intention of it, its design, are all immutable and are the essence of the building. The intention of the original builders is what survives. The wood of which the design is constructed decays and is replaced when necessary. To be overly concerned with the original materials, which are merely sentimental souvenirs of the past, is to fail to see the living building itself." – Douglas Adams, Last Chance to See
